

Sergio Heredia

He studied with Unnur Palsdottir, Tatiana Liberova and Yuri Nasushkin.

He expanded his training and also received lessons in early music with Jaap Schröder, Barry Sargent and Rinaldo Alesandrini.

He has participated in different projects and recordings for TV, film, radio and the recording industry.

He is currently a teacher, member of different groups and director of the Young Philharmonic Orchestra of the City of Pontevedra.

Sergio Heredia

VIOLIN PROFESSOR

---

Academic Record

He studied with Unnur Palsdottir, with Tatiana Liberova (in whose classroom he coincided with current great violinists such as Ilya Gringolts or Sergey Malov) and with Yuri Nasushkin.

He expands his training with Andrey Chetiglazov (ONE concertmaster), Alexey Bruni (concertmaster of the Russian National Orchestra), Sergey Girshenko (concertmaster, among others, of the Saint Petersburg Philharmonic) and Amayak Durgaryan (main Moscow Virtuosi).

In early music, he has received master classes from Jaap Schröder, Barry Sargent and Rinaldo Alesandrini.

Professional Experience

Qualified as a violinist with a great sound, a great presence on stage and a lot of musicality and experience. He has appeared on numerous occasions as a soloist in important Spanish concert halls making recordings on CD, radio, television and cinema.

He has collaborated on numerous occasions with orchestras such as the Galicia Symphony, Murcia Symphony, Oviedo City Symphony or the Royal Philharmonic of Galicia.

He has been a professor at the Conservatorio Superior de Vigo and invited to teach masterclasses at various music education centers inside and outside Galicia.

His students have been awarded in international competitions and hold leading positions in young and professional orchestras.

He is currently the first violin of the Camerata Arven and collaborates with the early music group Resonet, with whom he has recently recorded a CD. Together with Arquímedes Artal (viola da gamba) and Fernando Reyes (baroque guitar) he forms the Baroque ensemble Teucro Trio.

He is also conductor of the Xove Orquestra Filharmónica Cidade de Pontevedra.

"Congratulations Sergio on my behalf, for his talent and talent, for his wisdom and for how he takes the girl to something as complex as following the course of a river"

Fina Casalderrey